I GENERAL PROVISIONS

- 1 By means of the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval'), evidence is provided for the usability or applicability of the object of approval in the sense of the Landesbauordnungen ('Building Regulations of the Land').
- 2 If the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') includes requirements concerning the special expertise and experience of persons entrusted with the manufacture of construction products and types of construction according to the relevant regulations of the German Land following section 17, subsection 5, of the Musterbauordnung ('German Model Building Code'), it is to be noted that this expertise and experience can also be documented through equivalent verifications from other Member States of the European Union. If applicable, this also applies to verifications presented within the framework of the Agreement on the European Economic Area (EEA) or other bilateral agreements.
- 3 The allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') does not replace the statutory approvals, consents and certifications required for carrying out building projects.
- 4 The allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') is granted irrespective of third-party rights, particularly of private trademark rights.
- 5 Irrespective of further regulations in the 'Special provisions', the manufacturer and distributor of the object of approval have to provide the user or operator of the object of approval with copies of the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') and point out that the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') must be available at the application site. The authorities involved have to be provided with copies of the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') should they request it.
- 6 The allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') may only be reproduced in full. Publication of extracts requires the consent of the DIBt (German Institute for Structural Engineering). Texts and drawings contained in advertising literature must not be contrary to the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval'). Translations of the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') must contain the notice 'This translation of the original German version has not been verified by Deutsches Institut für Bautechnik (DIBt).
- 7 The allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') by the building authorities is granted on a revocable basis. The provisions of the allgemeine bauaufsichtliche Zulassung ('national technical approval') may be retroactively supplemented and changed. This applies in particular if required by new technical expertise.
